

Alice's Corner

July is National Water Garden Month, and to celebrate many of the local water garden clubs are offering public tours. This is a great way to acquaint yourselves with the many varieties of ponds and ideas of maintaining the same. Your local water garden clubs meet regularly during the warmer months to not only socialize, but to learn of and trade any new pond or product ideas, to have on occasion professional speakers, etc., so as to educate their members. They sometimes share plants and fish and usually have programs where they will once or twice a year sell plants and fish in order to raise funds for their club. If you have not become a water garden club member, you might want to consider doing so. You especially might want to attend their tours if you find one near where you live. We at Pond Pro Shop have some of the information you might need in order to tour the ponds or attend the meetings of the different clubs. If we do not have it, we will contact someone to help you.

Now that I have told you of the pond tours, I will tell you that we at pond Pro will be on some of those tours, but you know that you can tour our water gardens six days a week during summer hours and five days a week in the winter. We built our newest pond the 14th of June so it should be finished and landscaped by pond tour time. Our yard is almost complete as far as the number of water features and it is lovely. We have a few ideas to change, improve, add to or redo but this is a continual work in progress. The guys call this "job security". Our pottery displays continue to sell well and we have discovered new ideas to use the pottery. The bubbling rock displays are another top seller. These items do well because they have become wonderful gift ideas for someone who is unable to care for a large water feature but enjoys being in their backyard relaxing.

We are pleased to have so many of you excited about your "pond dollars" to be redeemed November 17-December 23. For those of you who are collecting your "pond dollars" we suggest you keep your receipts together so you can bring them in for totaling your redemption amounts in November. Remember for every $10.00 you spend in the Store, you earn $1. These "pond dollars" can only be redeemed by retail customers and only in the Store for 50% of the cost of an item.

Tips and Tricks

Some of our customers are using two pumps to save on energy—that's right, TWO. One pump runs the circulation/filtration in the pond 24/7. The other operates only when the customer is home to enjoy it and wants a lot of volume through or over their water feature like a waterfall. The second pump can be manually controlled or put on a timer to run only certain parts of the day.

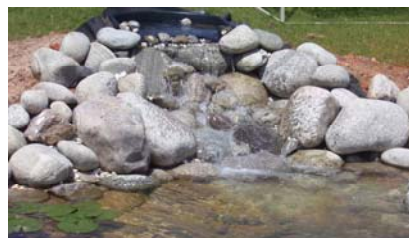

Meet and Greet!

Earl Robertson. This is Earl's second year at Pond Pro Shop and he is the one responsible for all the wonderful wood projects in our Yard...the arbors, swings, etc. He has begun this year working inside the Store and is doing quite well. Earl and his wife Lillian are very active in their church and are involved with the music ministry. He builds furniture for his family. He plays softball. He is a man of many talents. He and Lillian have one son, one daughter and 3 grandchildren. You will enjoy visiting with Earl.

WHAT'S NEW?

We're constantly asking ourselves this question. And learning about new products and new procedures. Much of this learning comes from you the customer. When you come in and ask questions we don't know the answer to, we start searching and researching. Sometimes we find a helpful answer, sometimes we don't but we all learn in the process. Our buyers are always looking for new and better products and we in the store try to keep up with the latest and greatest they bring in. Just this week we brought several new products into the store from the warehouse. Come in and see WHAT'S NEW?
